End of Year Summary

This has been our most challenging year ever, yet every step of the way we see the hand of God in the midst of it all. Thank you for your prayers and love toward us as we journey forward into uncharted waters.

Rachel's cancer growth has dramatically slowed down and some places have seen shrinkage. The largest growth is in the left side of her liver and the growth has been marginal. The growth in the lymph nodes has shrunk and the spot on her lung still the same size.

The main concern now is the numbness in her fingers. Her next scan is in February and the severity of the numbness will determine if we move to the next tier chemo or not.

But all her organs are fully function and apart from 3 days after chemo, you wouldn't know that Rachel has cancer. We don't know what this coming year will bring, but our confidence is that God is in control and Christ's love reigns in our hearts.

As for ministry, we are seeing incredible works of God across the world. There has been 50% growth in the number of new campuses and number of student multipliers in a number of countries/areas that have been trained. Students are not only reaching their campus with the gospel, but actively reaching other universities near and far.

Rachel and I are so blessed to have a spiritual family that covers the whole earth. It's not just that we have been able to train these people, but that their life has blessed us deeply. What we love about our work is that we get to learn from others in the field how to become more effective in what we do. Beyond that, we are loved by so many.

This coming year is still unfolding with what we will be doing globally and locally. We will still be coaching and training countries, but hope to be able to help in a more significant way locally. We are also enjoying our involvement in our local church and are so blessed to have a community of saints who love and care for us.

Lastly, we feel the deep love all of you have toward us as well. Even though our medical expenses are high, our financial situation has been stable. We know many of you are constantly praying for us and we see vividly how God is answering your prayers.

Here are our needs for this coming year as far as we know.

1. Medical: We are guessing around $12,000 above what insurance covers.
2. Car: Two friends of ours have loaned us cars these past two years. It's about time we buy our own. $15,000
3. Conferences: Locally we will need to raise our money for all conferences. $3000

Thanks again for all your love, concern and financial help. We hope this year as things stabilize, to visit many of you; its long overdo and we miss you so much.
